

About Enterprise Facilitation

We are a community based, volunteer run group dedicated to supporting and encouraging economic growth within West Cornwall.

Our basic principle is that the future of every community lies in capturing the passion, imagination and resources of its people.

We offer a free and confidential business coaching service to anyone living or working in the area. This helps clients clarify their goals and find the resources required to manage their business effectively.

Enterprise Facilitation maintains that the entrepreneur should only work in the business area that they are passionate about and that others can be found in the community to do the other aspects of the business. In this way the community regenerates itself by pulling together inspired individuals to work as a team.

The other aspect to Enterprise Facilitation is that we only engage with a client or community when we are invited in, and therefore we need our contact information and details to be spread as widely as possible so that individuals know how to contact us. This means that not only the 'business community' but friends, relatives, acquaintances, in fact anyone at all needs to know about us as one day, they may have a conversation with someone who wants to set up in business.

This is a two year project and over this period we hope to demonstrate that this is an effective method of business support and thereby obtain longer funding for the project and its rollout to the rest of Cornwall.

We are happy to talk to anyone about the project, not just entrepreneurs, so feel free to pass on our details for them to contact us.

We operate under licence to The Sirolli Institute. They are an economic development group based in the USA. There are lots of Sirolli projects around the world and we have full access to their networks and resources. You can out more about them through the following link; <http://www.sirolli.com>
